Open Container Area in Downtown Canton to Begin June 3

The City of Canton and the Downtown Canton Special Improvement District (SID) have announced that a Designated Outdoor Refreshment Area (DORA) in downtown Canton will go into effect June 3, 2016.

The DORA, which was unanimously approved by Canton City Council in April and only the third of its kind in Ohio, permits people to legally walk outside within specified boundaries with open containers of beer, wine and liquor. Only patrons using the DORA’s “official cup” will be permitted outside with an open container.

The DORA represents a partnership between the City of Canton and SID. The purpose of the DORA is to enhance the entertainment and cultural appeal of downtown Canton as a destination and also serve to enhance its economic appeal.

“Our goal is simple: to enhance the vibrancy and vitality of downtown Canton,” said Thomas M. Bernabei, Mayor of the City of Canton.

“Downtown Canton has made a name for having a thriving independent restaurant and bar scene,” said Mike Gill, Vice President of Economic Development for the Canton Regional Chamber of Commerce. “Our hope is that the DORA provides an additional economic boost by drawing even more people downtown.”

REFRESHMENT AREA FACTS
Days of Operation: Seven days a week
Hours of Operation: 12 pm to 12 am, daily
Boundaries: 68.7 acres of land, with borders marked generally by 6th Street N. (north edge), McKinley Ave. (west edge), 4th Street S. (south edge) and Walnut Ave. (east edge). Patrons may walk freely within the DORA boundaries. Signage will designate the entrances and exits of the DORA.

Official Cup: A specifically designated and marked 16 oz. plastic cup is the only cup permitted in the refreshment area.

For more information on the DORA, contact the Downtown Canton Special Improvement District at 330.456.7253 or the City of Canton at 330.489.3283.
June Public Policy News: Marijuana Legislation Update

State Rep. Kirk Schuring of Jackson Township and his medical marijuana task force listened to Ohio’s employers.

The task force accepted recommendations from the Metro Chambers of Ohio (which includes the Canton Regional Chamber) that were designed to protect drug-free workplaces. Later, a medical marijuana bill introduced in the House by Rep. Stephen Huffman included those recommendations.

Schuring led a select committee of the House that held hearings on the bill and moved it to approval by the full House, then on to the Ohio Senate.

Here is a summary of what was in the bill to protect employers. The summary is based on the Legislative Service Commission analysis:

Nothing in the bill:

- Requires an employer to permit or accommodate an employee’s use, possession, or distribution of medical marijuana.
- Prohibits an employer from taking any adverse employment action an employer may take under current law because of a person’s use, possession, or distribution of medical marijuana.
- Permits a person to sue an employer for taking an adverse employment action related to medical marijuana. Also, nothing in the bill:
- Prohibits an employer from establishing and enforcing a drug testing policy, drug-free workplace policy, or zero-tolerance drug policy or interferes with federal restrictions on employment, including U.S. Department of Transportation regulations.

Furthermore, the bill:

- Considers a person who is discharged from employment because of the person’s use of medical marijuana to have been discharged for just cause under the Unemployment Compensation Law and thus ineligible for unemployment benefits, which appears to be similar to current law.
- Maintains the rebuttable presumption that an employee is ineligible for workers’ compensation if the employee was under the influence of marijuana and being under the influence of marijuana was the proximate cause of the injury, regardless of whether the marijuana use is recommended by a physician.

Our thanks to Schuring and to Speaker of the House Cliff Rosenberger, who asked Schuring to take the lead on this legislation.

The Ohio Legislature, knowing there is strong public support for medical marijuana, wanted to permit it by law before voters are asked once again to allow marijuana use through a constitutional amendment. That may occur this November.

The Canton Regional Chamber of Commerce last year opposed the use of the Ohio Constitution to establish the marijuana business in the state.

Every small business has the same three challenges: how to make more money, get more clients and have more time. When you ask most small business owners if their business is sustaining them in the lifestyle they would love to live or if the business fulfilling their dream of what they envisioned when they first started their business, the answer is ‘no’…if they answered honestly.

What is missing is how to set Key Performance Indicators to understand exactly what you need to be doing each day in order to make your business a success. Margaret Briem, business coach, will answer to the question, “I am open for business, now what do I do to bring in the money?”

True-up Coming in July

Are you prepared for the next steps in the new workers’ comp billing process?

In July, 2016, private employers will need to complete the payroll true-up process for the policy year that will end June 30, 2016. The true-up requires employers to report their payroll for the period of July 1, 2015 – June 30, 2016 which will be reconciled with the estimated payroll BWC used to calculate their premium.

Employers must complete this true-up online at www.bwc.ohio.gov. If an employer doesn’t have an e-account on www.bwc.ohio.gov, BWC strongly encourages creation of one prior to the true-up deadline to complete the online true-up reporting process. Failure to file a true-up will result in disqualifications from BWC programs.

BWC created two videos with detailed instructions on How to Create a BWC E-Account and the BWC Payroll True-Up.

Additional information can be found on the prospective billing link on the Employers page at www.bwc.ohio.gov or by calling 1-800-644-6292.
